

1 I, RUZANNA MKHITARIAN, declare as follows:

2 1. I am a student at California State University Los Angeles. I will be 3 applying to law school for admission in fall 2004 and I wish to prepare for the 4 October 2003 LSAT. I learned about TestMasters from my friend, who took the 5 course last year and is now a first year law student.

6 2. When I was ready to enroll into TestMasters, I went to what I thought 7 was the TestMasters website at www.testmasters.com as the cite advertised a national 8 LSAT preparation program. I clicked on LSAT and then I clicked California and 9 the website stated that unfortunately, LSAT courses would not be offered this year 10 in California. I thought that this was extremely odd because one of my friends had 11 registered for TestMasters about one week prior to my visiting the 12 www.testmasters.com website.

13 3. I called my friend who had successfully enrolled in TestMasters and 14 asked her what was going on. She did not know but provided me with the telephone 15 number of the TestMasters that I had been looking for.

16 4. I then called the number that my friend gave me. I told the 17 representative about my experience and she gave me the correct website address at 18 www.testmasters180.com.

19 5. If I had not called my friend who had enrolled in TestMasters the week
20 before I came across the wrong website, I would have signed up for a different 21 LSAT Preparation Course.

22 Executed this 17th day of June 2003, at 4:50 p.m
23 (city, state).
